The annual report of these 5 listed companies of the year 2023 has been summarized below.

1. Telecommunications: Grameenphone

According to the 2023 annual report, Grameenphone remained the largest telecommunications operator in Bangladesh, serving approximately 82 million subscribers, including around 46.6 million internet users. In 2023, the company reported total revenue of about BDT 158.7 billion (≈15,870 crore), representing roughly 5.5% growth from the previous year. The company recorded a net profit of approximately BDT 33.1 billion (≈3,306 crore). During the year, Grameenphone invested heavily in network development and expanded its 4G infrastructure by installing more than 1,600 new sites, increasing nationwide coverage to nearly 98% of the population. The company also made a major contribution to the national economy by paying about BDT 122 billion in taxes, VAT, and fees to the government. Despite regulatory and operational challenges, the company continued focusing on digital services, network quality, and customer experience to sustain its leadership in the telecom industry.

2. Pharmaceuticals: Square Pharmaceuticals

According to the 2022–2023 annual report, Square Pharmaceuticals Limited continued to hold the leading position in the pharmaceutical industry of Bangladesh. In the fiscal year 2022–2023, the company reported total revenue of approximately BDT 6,957 crore, reflecting steady growth driven by strong demand for pharmaceutical products. The company achieved a net profit of about BDT 1,647 crore during the year. Square Pharmaceuticals maintained a diverse product portfolio and exported medicines to more than 40 countries worldwide, strengthening its international presence. The company also continued investing in research and development, modern manufacturing facilities, and quality control systems to ensure high standards of production. Despite challenges such as rising raw material costs and global economic uncertainty, Square Pharmaceuticals remained financially strong and focused on innovation, product expansion, and global market growth.

3. Banking: BRAC Bank

According to the 2023 annual report, BRAC Bank continued to be one of the leading private commercial banks in Bangladesh, known for its strong focus on SME financing and digital banking services. In 2023, the bank reported net profit after tax of approximately BDT 1,255 crore, reflecting stable financial performance despite economic challenges. The bank experienced growth in loans, deposits, and digital banking services during the year. BRAC Bank also continued strengthening its SME lending portfolio, which remains a core component of its business strategy, while expanding retail and corporate banking services. The bank invested in technology and digital platforms to improve operational efficiency and customer service. Despite challenges such as inflation, interest rate fluctuations, and regulatory pressures in the banking sector, BRAC Bank focused on sustainable growth, financial inclusion, and digital transformation.

4. Electronics: Walton Hi-Tech Industries

According to the 2022–2023 annual report, Walton Hi-Tech Industries Limited remained one of the largest electronics and home appliance manufacturers in Bangladesh.
